Live a healthy life

The essence of medicine is said to be a skin touch. We feel mutual warmth by a gentle and warm hand touch. Ease and assurance is brought by being connected to each other. Heartfelt medical treatment can be given by touching each other.

Those who aspire to work in medical fields are expected not only to treat illness, but also to know an importance of treating a patient as a whole being. In this manner, we cure both physical and mental conditions. Patients can restore health for the first time.

Health is man's most valued happiness. We feel happiness by living a physical and mental healthy life. For those who aspire to work in medical fields SMC offers medical education by placing an emphasis on basic and foundation courses.

We teach essential and broad knowledge and practical medical technology. We cultivate a flexible ability to apply such knowledge and technology in treating patients. We aim to educate a flexible individual who can make a quick and apt adaptation to needs of the changing society.

In the future, we hope that SMC graduates can make an active contribution by gaining trust from patients and individuals who are engaged in medical fields.
